Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 17-20 are objected to because of the following informalities: In each claim, lines 4-5, the terminology, "the principle of" lacks antecedent basis and it is suggested the terminology be changed to --a principle of--. In paragraph 3 of each claim, the terminology, "the case where said deferred" lacks antecedent basis and it is suggested the terminology be changed to --a case where said deferred--. In paragraph 3 of each claim, the terminology, "the unsettled transaction type" lacks antecedent basis and it is suggested the terminology be changed to --an unsettled transaction type— or --the unsettled transaction--. Appropriate correction/clarification is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §101

Claims 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The basis of this rejection is set forth in a two-prong test of:

- (1) whether the invention is within the technological arts; and
- (2) whether the invention produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result.

For a claimed invention to be statutory, the claimed invention must be within the technological arts. Mere ideas in the abstract (i.e., abstract idea, law of nature, natural phenomena) that do not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts fail to promote the "progress of science and the useful arts" (i.e., the physical sciences as opposed to social sciences, for example) and therefore are found to be non-statutory subject matter. For a process claim, the recited process must somehow apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts.

In the present case, each of claims 17-20 only recite an abstract idea. The recited steps comprising a transaction defining unit and a management control unit do not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts since the recited steps can be performed in the mind of the user or by use of a pencil and paper. These steps only constitute an idea of how to manage a transaction.

Additionally, for a claimed invention to be statutory, the claimed invention must produce a useful, concrete, and tangible result. In the present case, the claimed invention produces a means of tracking and terminating incomplete transactions.

Although the recited process produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result, since the claimed invention, as a whole, is not within the technological arts as explained above, claims 17-20 are deemed to be directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
